The Core Content Review of Family Medicine

---

Educating Family Physicians Since 1968

Overview

The Core Content Review of Family Medicine is a unique educational resource for family physicians and other primary care professionals who desire a comprehensive, practical and affordable home-study program for earning CME credit or preparing for Board examination.

This self-evaluation program can be used anywhere, anytime, at your convenience. Whether you are preparing for Board examination or want to update and improve your clinical skills, Core Content Review provides a comprehensive review of the core curriculum of family medicine.

Objectives

Upon completion of this program, you should be able to:

1. Discuss the diagnosis and management of common medical and psychological disorders encountered by family physicians.
2. Identify areas of relative strengths and weaknesses in your core knowledge of family medicine.
3. Plan additional review in preparation for certification and maintenance of certification.

Call 888-343-CORE (2673) or visit www.CoreContent.com for more information.

Faculty and Program Credentials

Developed by the Connecticut and Ohio Academies of Family Physicians, Core Content Review is now in its fifth decade of providing continuing education for thousands of family physicians and other primary care professionals.

A national faculty, composed of both leading educators and practicing physicians, develops the questions and extensive discussions. All Core Content Review material is peer reviewed by a committee of family physicians ensuring applicability to current primary care practice.

Accreditation

Core Content Review of Family Medicine (print version) 2016 has been reviewed and is acceptable for up to 60 Prescribed credits by the American Academy of Family Physicians. Term of approval is for one year from beginning distribution date of 01/01/16. Each individual issue is approved for 10 Prescribed credits.

AAFP Prescribed credit is accepted by both the AAPA and the AMA. When applying for the AMA PRA, Prescribed credit hours earned must be reported as Prescribed hours, not as category 1.

Prescribed credit for the electronic versions can be found on the next page.

Convenient Formats...

Print

The Core Content Review of Family Medicine features questions with corresponding in-depth discussions covering 45 different topic categories of family medicine/primary care. The printed version is presented in 6 Question/Discussion booklet sets delivered over a 12-month period. Each set of booklets include 75 multiple choice questions/discussions and one full clinical scenario. Every issue features topic indexing.

Electronic Versions

A comprehensive collection of Core Content Review Question/Discussion sets and Clinical Set Problems, updated from the Review's July 2014 through May 2015 print versions, is now available in two electronic formats.

This interactive electronic course, available both as an Online course or on a Flash Drive, addresses 45 different topic categories and provides a practical means to refresh and strengthen your knowledge base in preparation for Board and Maintenance of Certification. The Electronic Versions are approved for 60 Prescribed credits by the AAFP.

Online

The Online course is accessed via our website www.CoreContent.com. Subscribers will have a unique username and password to access the course. The course provides automatic score tracking and can be accessed from any computer with Internet access.

Flash Drive

The Flash Drive contains the same exact content as the Online course but does not require Internet access. Scoring is saved locally on your hard drive so using the course on multiple computers is not recommended.
